FORTY-SECOND VOLUME.

INTRODUCTORY.

The Forty-second Annual Volume of The Indianapolis City Directory for 1896 is presented to the public with the confidence that it is equal, if not superior, to its predecessors in point of reliability and accuracy.

The territory embraced is larger than in the past, and includes West Indianapolis, Irvington, Brightwood, Mount Jackson, Mapleton and Haughville.

The alphabetical portion of the Directory, ending at page 940, shows an increase of eighty-two pages of names over last year.

POPULATION.

The present volume contains 67,662 names. Using 2½ as a multiplier—a smaller one than that used in any other city—we have an estimated population of 169,155, an increase over 1895 of 19,200. By using the multiplier of 2½, the publishers believe a very conservative estimate of the population is obtained—an estimate which, in the past, has been borne out by the census returns. It must be remembered, however, that the census is necessarily confined to the city limits, while the Directory includes all the immediate suburbs, which are, practically, part of the City.

One of the best indications of the presperity of the City is the large increase during the past year in the building line. Notably among these may be mentioned the Majestic Office Building, the Scottish Rite Temple, the Lemeke Building, the Indiana Trust Building, the Indiana Bank Building, the Blacherne and the Chalfant.

In conclusion, the publishers tender thanks to their patrons for continued support, and assure them that no effort nor expense has been spared to insure accuracy and correctness.

E RECEIVE many complaints from our patrons to the effect that they are bothered so much by BORROWERS. These parties are not the private citizen nor the stranger in the city, who steps in, looks at the Directory and goes out, but merchants, business and professional men, who need a Directory every day of the year, yet who are too close-fisted to buy one.

These same individuals are the ones that borrow your Directory "just for a minute," which, in the majority of cases, means a day or perhaps a week, unless you remember that they have it and send for it.

These same borrowers will tell the Directory canvasser that he has "no use for a Directory," that he "knows everybody," and, vice versa, "everybody knows him."

Carts for Children, Surreys and Phaetons for the Ladies at S. PENNSYLVANIA ST.

Butler College

Irvington, the site of the College, is an attractive suburb of Indianapolis, four miles east of the center of the city, and connected with it by electric street cars, making quick trips every fifteen minutes. The population of the village consists mainly of those who have been drawn thither by its educational inducements. This gives it a special character of cultivation and good order, while, as a home for students, it is singularly free from the temptations and dangers often surrounding college life.

The College, in its literary and scientific departments, maintains a full corps of instructors, and offers every facility for thorough college work. Instruction in elocution and regular and systematic training in physical exercises are furnished without extra charge. Instruction in music, also, is provided. The theological department aims at the highest scholarship. An excellent preparatory school fits students for college classes. Residence for young ladies is offered in a carefully conducted boarding hall on the college campus, where young ladies only are received. All the buildings are supplied with steam heat and electric lights. Tuition and living expenses low. For catalogue and information, address,

United States Life Insurance Co., of New York. 25 E. Market St.

E. B. SWIFT, M'g'r.

THE PROVIDENT ______ LIFE AND TRUST COMPANY

... OF PHILADELPHIA ...

In everything which makes Life Insurance safe, excellent, and moderate in cost, this Company is unsurpassed. Issues Life, Endowment and Term Policies, which can be made payable to the beneficiary in 10, 15, 20, 25 or 30 equal annual installments, or to the company as trustee under a deed of trust.

Attention is directed to the new Installment=An= nuity Policy of the Provident, which provides a fixed income for twenty years, and for the continuance of the income to the widow for the balance of her life, if she should survive the installment period of twenty years.

- Its Renewable Term Policies==which are issued at low rates, and participate in dividends, and which are convertible into Life or Endowment policies—afford a large amount of temporary protection at a very moderate expense. They are particularly adapted to the present period of business depression, when every one needs additional protection by Life Insurance.
- Its Partnership Policies are designed to afford protection in the case of the death of a member of a firm to the surviving partner or partners. When no longer needed for that purpose, the policies can be converted into insurance on the individual members of the firm.
